DETAILED ACTION

1. This application has been reviewed. Original claims 1-27 are pending. The rejections cited are as stated below:

Specification

2. The abstract of the disclosure does not commence on a separate sheet in accordance with 37 CFR 1.52(b)(4). A new abstract of the disclosure is required and must be presented on a separate sheet, apart from any other text.

Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

A patent abstract is a concise statement of the technical disclosure of the patent and should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. If the patent is of a basic nature, the entire technical disclosure may be new in the art, and the abstract should be directed to the entire disclosure. If the patent is in the nature of an improvement in an old apparatus, process, product, or composition, the abstract should include the technical disclosure of the improvement. In certain patents, particularly those for compounds and compositions, wherein the process for making and/or the use thereof are not obvious, the abstract should set forth a process for making and/or use thereof. If the new technical disclosure involves modifications or alternatives, the abstract should mention by way of example the preferred modification or alternative.

The abstract should not refer to purported merits or speculative applications of the invention and should not compare the invention with the prior art.

Where applicable, the abstract should include the following:

- (1) if a machine or apparatus, its organization and operation;
- (2) if an article, its method of making;
- (3) if a chemical compound, its identity and use;
- (4) if a mixture, its ingredients;
- (5) if a process, the steps.

Extensive mechanical and design details of apparatus should not be given.

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

3. Claims 1-5 and 14-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Gohring, Nancy, "Wireless Networks, Secrets of Success Technology Information Telephony", hereinafter, "Gohring".

Claims 1-5 and 14-18, Gohring teaches a method for remote purchase payment from an automatic machine comprising the steps of contacting the automatic machine with a cellular telephone; identifying an identifying feature of the cellular telephone carried out by a cellular telephone service provider; determining whether a desired transaction is available; carrying out said transaction by the automatic machine; and charging a transaction charge for said transaction to said cellular telephone (pages 5-7).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 148 USPQ 459, that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or unobviousness.

4. Claims 6-13 and 19-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gohring, Nancy, "Wireless Networks, Secrets of Success Technology Information Telephony", hereinafter, "Gohring".

Claims 6-13 and 19-27, Gohring fails to teach the steps of identifying said cellular telephone by a Caller ID service provided by a cellular telephone service provider, connecting with said cellular telephone by infra red means, requesting a PIN number, and comparing said PIN number with encoded PIN number provided by cellular telephone infra red transmitter to said automatic machine during said connecting step.

Official Notice is taken that identifying said cellular telephone by a Caller ID service provided by a cellular telephone service provider, connecting with said cellular telephone by infra red means, requesting a PIN number, and comparing said PIN number with encoded PIN number provided by cellular telephone infra red transmitter to said automatic machine during said connecting step is old and well known in the art.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skilled in the art at the time the applicant's invention was made to modify the teachings of Gohring to include the steps of identifying said cellular telephone by a Caller ID service provided by a cellular telephone service provider, connecting with said cellular telephone by infra red means, requesting a PIN number, and comparing said PIN number with encoded PIN number provided by cellular telephone infra red transmitter to said automatic machine during said connecting step because, it provides a system that is user friendly, and greatly improves the efficiency of the system.
